A SHORT GUIDE TO RECONNECTING WITH CUSTOMERS WHO WENT QUIET

Five simple steps, no big campaign required

01

DEFINE WHAT SILENT MEANS FOR YOUR BUSINESS

For a salon it might be 3 months; for a dental clinic, a year past the recall date

02

PULL THE LIST. DON'T GUESS.

The real list is almost always longer, and different, than the one you'd remember

03

REACH OUT LIKE A PERSON NOT A CAMPAIGN

A short, warm message beats a generic promotion every time

04

MAKE IT EASY TO SAY YES TO SOMETHING SMALL

Don't ask for full re-engagement at once. Offer one easy next step

05

TRACK WHO RESPONDS AND WHO DOESN'T

Silence is still information. It tells you what to try next

THIS ISN'T A ONE-TIME CAMPAIGN. IT'S A HABIT.

The businesses that do this well run it every month, not just when things get quiet

WHICH STEP WOULD MAKE THE BIGGEST DIFFERENCE THIS MONTH?

Pick one. Start there
